

Farmers of Tomorrow

What does the future look like for North Dakota farmers? Create a portrait of yourself as a future farmer. You can include crops and animals in your drawing.

NDFB Week March 10-16, 2024

Deadline for entries is March 8, 2024!

Please draw a portrait of yourself as a future farmer. You may include crops, animals and sustainable practices that you believe will be important for farming in years to come.

We will award a winner in each grade in the following categories:

- Creativity and originality of the theme
- Quality of artistic composition and overall design

All four winners will receive $50 each.

Did you know North Dakota is like a champion at growing spring wheat and sunflowers? It's true! And guess what? We're not just good at that – we're the number 1 state for making honey, and we've been rocking it for 19 whole years!

Now, here's the cool part – a long time ago, farmers used horses and plows to grow their crops. But now, they're like farming superheroes using things such as drones, apps, and other super cool technology.

What do you think farmers will use in the future to grow our food?

Art contest for 4th and 5th graders

You must be in 4th or 5th grade to participate in the drawing contest (we encourage color to be a part of the drawing). Students should draw a portrait of themselves as a future farmer. They may include crops, animals and sustainable practices that they believe will be important for farming in years to come.

We will award a winner in each grade in the following categories:

- Creativity and originality of the theme
- Quality of artistic composition and overall design

All four winners will receive $50 each, and will be published in NDFB's newsletter, Focus.

Please submit drawings to the NDFB office by March 8, 2024. The winner will be announced during NDFB Week, March 10-16.
